

R & R System Solutions
Putting it all together

(703) 937-7129

J. A. (Jack) Runfola is President of R&R SYSTEM SOLUTIONS.

He has extensive experience leading companies to fulfill customer expectations and company goals of revenue and profitability.

With over 30 years of experience, Jack has managed internal operations, business development, project management, contract negotiations, and manufacturing operations for domestic and international companies.

His ongoing industry experience includes cable systems for global telecommunication companies, offshore petro chemical industry, and the Department of Defense.

His responsibilities have always been multi-disciplined, creating a proven record of accomplishment and his expertise is to move companies forward in a realistic manner to achieve goals and objectives.